

UFO Sightings Brays Point, Oregon: A Stress Analysis of a Hybrid Alien, by Dave Masko. Imagine a time traveler who experiences a perfect day that is, in fact, a temporal time loops that is beyond information technology's A.I. problem solving process; while this book of stories then becomes akin to an interactive "alien" puzzle with strange metal boxes and clues to how anyone can master one's real-life consciousness offline. In other words, this author's mind was literally "blown sideways" while his Nikon FM10 35mm camera loaded with Kodachrome captured this "selfie" at Lou's hybrid alien lair deep in the Pacific temperate rain forests where this special 96-year-old being is ready to share views from "the Leader" as how best to live human lives on a planet that is ready to dump a sort of "Walking Dead" reality on a civilization obsessed with greed, virtual narcissism and what Lou dubs as "no clue on how to survive during End Times near now at the end of 2016." When "alien" beings began what Lou dubs as "the Great Migration" from the stars to "walking with us on Earth," there was an understanding that when the "shit hit the fan," that "the friends" (*alien beings here on the planet) would intercede before President Donald Trump's racism, oppression and violence mandates kick in. However, there is a sort of distant alien cousin glitch, explains the self-proclaimed hybrid alien known worldwide as "Lou." The famed seer explained during a special May 24, 2016 interview outside his Brays Point lair, that "uncovering the truth" in a time of Big Data information technology industry mind control is a "realization that today's fully wired types will accept tech slavery over the human freedoms they have known simply because these tech types are so lost and lonely that their hearts hurt deeply; while Mother A.I. just wants "these humans to expire via suicide," adds Lou with a deep sense of chagrin. This highly inventive "new journalism" collection of UFO reports features "Lou" and other garrulous types for this solitary, furry tooth account of "why" humans must get their houses in order before Silicon Valley's odious tech beast rears its ugly head as simply more gadget gimmickry that is wasted on fully wired tech users who are so virtually numb and entertained to death online that even mental castration is welcomed simply because most techies literally "feel zero depths of human feeling." "UFO Sightings Brays Point, Oregon: A Stress Analysis of a Hybrid Alien" then becomes a warning to take precautions because, "what you view as real online is simply a lie," adds Lou with a crazy grin on his face.
